LUTHER Z. ROSSER CALLED BY DEATH

FALL TO PAVEMENT MONTH AGO RESULTS IN DEATH ON TUESDAY LAST.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Luther Zeigler Rosser, 64, one of the most prominent members of the Atlanta bar, and who by virtue of his power as a barrister gained a national reputation, died early Tuesday morning at his home on Oakdale road in Druid Hills, after a brief illness.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Upon Mr. Rosser's request, Rev. Wallace Rogers, presiding elder of LaGrange district of North Georgia conference, will conduct the services. He and Mr. Rosser were warm friends, and made fishing trips to Florida together frequently. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Death was due primarily to a heart blood vessel in his brain. An injury received a month ago, when Attorney Rosser fractured his nose in a fall to the pavement, caused the complication that resulted fatally.

Attorney Rosser paid but little attention to the injury, and continued his duties attending his practice in the Fulton county courts, until, in some manner it became infected, and last Thursday he was forced to return home. He was confined in bed immediately. High blood pressure added complications, making it difficult for surgeons to render any material aid.

Attorney Rosser's closest business associates were not aware that his condition was critical, and although it was known that the case was a serious one, it was believed certain that he would recover.

Mr. Rosser was a brother of Mrs. R. L. Durnace, of this city, and an occasional visitor here. He was well known to many Statesboro people, and the announcement of his death came as a shock to his friends.

STATUS OF COUNTY AGENTS EXPLAINED

EMPLOYED BY COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agents are employed co-operatively by the College of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with county officials or county organizations.

Salaries range from $1,200 to $3,000, out of which the agent purchases and keeps up an automobile and takes care of his own traveling expenses. The annual expense of county or home demonstration agents range from $600 to $1,200, and therefore leaves a small margin for living expenses.

Funds are available from federal and state sources for co-operation with the counties in the employment of agents for approximately one hundred men agents and one hundred women agents. When the state legislature fully meets the Smith-Lever offset, sufficient funds will be available to place an agent in every county in the state.

The terms and provisions of the Smith-Lever Act called for the giving of information to farmers and their families not residing at agricultural colleges, on subjects pertaining to agriculture and home economics.

There are four principal phases of the information given on the products of the farm and home.

1. Production.
2. Conservation.
3. Utilization.
4. Distribution.

Production comes first and is of prime importance. Without production, conservation, utilization, and distribution are not to be considered. A great portion of the county agents' time can be well spent in giving information on the improvement of the soil, selection of seed, better cultivation and fertilization of crops, and the improvement of live stock and poultry.

SIX NEW TRUSTEES FOR A. & M. SCHOOL

GOVERNOR APPOINTS WOMEN ON THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES FOR FIRST TIME.

For the first time in the history of the A. & M. School, Governor Hardwick has appointed women to membership on the board of trustees. E. V. Hollis, principal of the school, in receipt of an official communication from the governor naming six trustees of the institution for places that have expired or are about to expire, and for vacancies caused by resignation, the formation of new counties, etc.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson, of Millen; Mrs. Clara Varnadoe, of Claxton; and Mrs. L. M. Branch, of Ludowici, are the ladies to aid in shaping the policies of the school and in general representing its interests in their respective counties. The school authorities are unanimous in their welcome to the new type of representation. The older members feel that the new ideas and viewpoints of these members will mark the beginning of many new and worth while departures in the development of the A. & M. School.

Other new appointments include Clarence Gayton, of Guyton, to represent Edgemoor county; Charles W. Fraser, of Hinesville, to represent Liberty county; and B. P. Walker, of Stillmore as the representative for Emanuel county. The list also includes many appointments as it will be remembered that the school has one representative in every county that now constitutes the First Congressional district and representatives from two counties now outside the district but included in the First A. & M. School district.

In connection with the recent appointments to membership on the board, it will be remembered that until one year ago the leadership of the board was vested in the hands of J. Randolph Anderson, representative from Chatham county.

Mr. Anderson, through his long period of successful leadership devoted to the interests of the school, has come to be known as the "Grand Old Man" of the board. There is not another member that has served continuously since the organization of the school. The chairmanship of the board is now vested in J. E. McCroan, of Statesboro, who has been elected to the position.

After ill health forced Mr. Anderson to retire from active direction it was the unanimous vote of the body that Mr. McCroan become the torch-bearer.

FARMERS PREPARE SOIL FOR THEIR CROPS

A round through the country in any direction will reveal that the farmers of Bulloch county are facing the immediate future with confidence and vigor.

A ride this week down through the Bay district brought the conviction that spring is at hand. Farmers in almost every field were turning up the fresh earth, and on the highways loads of guano spoke eloquently of the big crop that is to come. Many fields had already been broken up and the laying off of the rows at the present time indicated that corn and cotton were going into the ground. The Bay district is a great agricultural section, especially the upper part of it, and the lands are equal to the best in the county. One could not fail to be impressed by the fertility of the soil on the farm of the old C. W. Zetterover home, the C. C. DeLoach home, the T. J. Denmark farms, the R. C. Lester farms, the J. S. Waters home and others which were passed in the trip referred to.

County agents work with:

- (a) Individual farmers.
- (b) Groups of farmers.
- (c) Boys and girls.
- (d) Farm women.
- (e) Schools.
- (f) Public in general.

Great progress will be made through organizations. The agents distribute information to groups easier than to individuals. Community organizations are destined to furnish the group activities. Agents are, therefore, interested in giving information on methods of providing group organizations and of instructing the farmers in their proper functions. Many times more boys and girls are reached through this method than individually. Group organizations for the farmers are considered a necessity.

Through the work of the schools, newspapers, and organizations the interest of the general public is aroused.

WILL BEGIN AT ONCE TO BUILD NEW DEPOT

Work will be commenced early next week on the new passenger and freight station for the S. & S. R. Railway, to occupy the site of the station destroyed by fire last year. The new building will be modern in every way and a credit to the city.

BUS LINE PROVING POPULAR WITH PUBLIC

The Fulford bus line, operating between Graymont-Summit and Savannah, and touching at Statesboro and all other intermediate points, is rapidly gaining popularity with the traveling public. A double-daily schedule is maintained, thus affording opportunity for a round trip in either direction each day. Attention is invited to the schedule in another column.

The board plans, temporarily, at least, to hold loans made under the law to a basis of nine months' maturity. Mr. Lobdell explained, however, that this would be done only because no one knew the exact extent

PACKING PLANT MAN AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

R. M. WILLIAMS HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT OF BONDS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Williamston, N. C., March 10.—Robert M. Williams, president of the Southern Packing Company, with offices here at Orangeburg, S. C., and New York City, has been arrested in New York on a warrant issued by local stockholders charging embezzlement of $20,000 in bonds of the company. It was learned here. The advice added that he was ordered held in $50,000 bail.

Chief of Police Cashwell said he was preparing a request for extradition and that it would go forward at once.

The foregoing will be interesting to the few people in Statesboro and vicinity who remember Mr. Williams from his former connection with the local packing plant. It may also be said to be more or less satisfactory to the few who came directly in touch with him in that transaction.

It was about three years ago that R. M. Williams and one Williamson came to Statesboro to negotiate for the state packing plant. They had not a dollar of cash, but plenty of nerve. Some packing plant man in Louisville, Ky., seemed to have sponsored them for a limited amount, and after procuring a contract for the purchase of the plant, they began work of remodeling. They never paid a dollar on the purchase price, but spent something like $5,000 in making changes and preparing to develop the property. At the same time they seemed to have procured a defunct plant at some point in Florida, and large shipments of building material were made from that point to Statesboro. Things moved with a long stride at the local plant. The fence was whitewashed, a rather fancy gate was erected with the name of the plant in hold letters; a carload of logs was bought and a photographer made a picture of the outfit. It was something imposing. When the $5,000 loan, which had been procured from a local bank on endorsement from the Louisville packer, was exhausted, an additional loan was declined. Williams then went to Louisville and filed a bankruptcy petition. He included an interest in the local plant among his assets. He had never paid a dollar on the purchase price, and had been operating under a contract with the directors which held the plant free from responsibility for any indebtedness he might incur. After a long fight, which was held before Judge Evans, of the federal court, during which Williams made strenuous efforts to wrest the plant from its owners, he was defeated. His appearance before the public again in a similar role is not surprising to those who remember his conduct here.

FARM LOAN BOARD PERFECT ITS PLANS

ONE MILLION DOLLARS TO GO TO EACH OF TWELVE BANKS TO BE ESTABLISHED.

Washington, March 12.—The federal farm loan board, charged with administration of the new government financial intermediate credit banks, completed today the guide lines which will serve as the basis for the system's operation in aid of the farmer.

The $60,000,000 capital authorized by the law creating the new banks automatically has been accredited to the farm loan board by the treasury and indications were given, following a conference today between Commissioner Lobdell of the board and Secretary Mellon, that a million dollars will be turned over to each of the twelve banks immediately upon the issuing of charters. Additional funds up to the aggregate of sixty million will be supplied as needs arise.

The board plans, temporarily, at least, to hold loans made under the law to a basis of nine months' maturity. Mr. Lobdell explained, however, that this would be done only because no one knew the exact extent to which the system would be called upon to aid in agricultural financing. The first few months or, perhaps a year, he said, would be regarded as a period of experimentation.

"It is the ambition of those charged with the administration of the new law," said the commissioner, "to render maximum service, but elemental safety must be the first consideration. Banks and co-operative associations desiring to use the service and see it develop will make their best contribution by offering nothing but perfectly sound paper."

A construction of the law's provisions, made public by the commissioner, was agreed upon in the three-day conference last week of the board with the land bank presidents. It said:

"Direct loans cannot be made to individuals. Direct advances may be made to co-operative marketing associations or live stock associations secured by warehouse receipts for staple agricultural products or by chattel mortgage on live stock.

"No such loan may exceed 75 per cent of the market value of the agricultural product or live stock.

"Loans may be redevalued for national and state banks, saving banks, trust companies, agricultural credit corporations and incorporated live stock loan companies.

"No paper can be redevalued upon which the borrower has been charged a rate more than one and one-half per cent in excess of the discount rate of the intermediate credit bank of the district.

"In making advances on warehouse receipts, the credit banks can accept only receipts from bonded government warehouses or satisfactory bonded warehouses operating under satisfactory state supervision and regulation. This should tend to broaden interest and greater activity in the development of warehouse facilities and proper regulation.

"The facilities which the banks will be able to afford to co-operative marketing concerns should lead to a greater development of such enterprises.

"Ample funds will be available for loans to facilitate orderly marketing but none to support speculative holding of farm products.

"No loan will be made for a longer period than nine months, until the system is thoroughly tried out. Upon livestock paper, satisfactory assurance of renewal will be given in proper cases but only in aggregate amounts equal to the bank's capital and then the subject of the mortgage must submit to reinspection and a satisfactory condition of security provided."

AGGIES' BALL PRACTICE NOW IN FULL SWAY

The A. & M. school has issued uniforms and equipment to a squad that approximates three full teams, and baseball practice has begun in earnest. Coach Quattlebaum, an instructor most of the early seasons to the fundamental of baseball. Infield work, batting practice, and trying out of pitchers makes up the laboratory work of the squad to date. The school is forced to make a team from the ground up. There is not a man at the school who has played in an A. & M. school baseball team. As a result, Coach Quattlebaum is necessarily devoting a great deal of work to blackboard playing and lectures.

The boys are going at their work with vim and enthusiasm. It is much too early in the season to predict who will make places on the team. Wall, who played center on the football team, is looked to as the forte in the pitcher's box. Lanier, who will be remembered by his work in the backfield during the football season, is developing into an acceptable left-handed pitcher. Hagan, Orling, the Jarrell brothers, and others who have starred in the other major sports of the season, are trying for places on the team.

No schedule of games has yet been arranged. All of the dates are open. Teams in the Savannah territory who would like to include the Aggies in their schedule, are invited to get in touch with Coach A. W. Quattlebaum, Jr.

A BEAUTIFUL THEORY.

The theory that uncontrollable inmates of the prisons of Georgia are to be reformed through the abolition of the lash, is beautiful to read about.

A great many well-meaning people—persons who are so far removed from the criminal element that they are incapable of comprehending the ends to which the crime-hardened wags—have permitted themselves to become obsessed with the belief that men are made more criminal through the threat of punishment for the disobedience to authority. These are almost overcome with rejoicing since Governor Hardwick has signed the document which orders the abolition of the lash in prison camps.

One of the greatest objections we could urge to the application of this new honor system, is that it is a failure to start with. Those men who now fill the prison camps were of their honor as men—even as every living man is on his honor—before they outraged society and brought upon themselves the punishment that put them in prison. Even there they are still upon their honor, with no threat of the lash till they have further transgressed and deserved the lash for failure to walk uprightly. This statement is upon the assumption that there is no rule which permits the whipping of a prisoner who strives to comply with the reasonable rules of prison life. We assume that it is not charged that prison keepers in Georgia have been applying the lash through the mere love of brutality; but that when a prisoner sets himself against the rules which have been made for the control of prison inmates—rules which are not made for punishment but to preserve order—he has been appealed to by that most drastic means which reaches when all gentler means have failed.

There is a missing link in the reform argument as urged against the lash. If the abolition of that instrument of control will tend to make gentle and meek men who have been held in subjection by the personal application in the past, it is not a great appeal to the imagination to argue that abolition of the penitentiaries and all other forms of punishment will work a complete reformation of all those who belong to the criminal class. If it is logical that a man is made better when the fear of the lash is removed, it is certainly as logical that he would be made even more gentle and tractable through the removal of fear of any other sort of punishment. And that is where, as we declared at the outset, the theory has already failed. There was no threat of punishment till the law was violated—the honor system was then in vogue and it failed.

COUNTY AGENTS' WORK.

The progressive counties of the South are those in which county agents are employed to assist the farmers to make and sell their crops. No community can take credit to itself for having done its best till it has accepted every intelligent opportunity for betterment. Few communities are doing so well that they might not do better with proper effort and assistance along certain lines. Those communities in Bulloch county which stand out as the most prosperous, are the communities in which the farmers join together in community effort. The watermelon growers of the Brooklet, Darien and Bay districts have found it absolutely essential to organize for their best interests in the growing and marketing of their fruit. A better understanding of the market requirements is attained through co-operation, and thus better returns for the products which are offered for market. What little benefit has been realized by the farmers of this county through these means, has been at their personal expense, either in the loss of their time or the expenditure of their cash in others in bringing about this co-operative movement. The good that has been accomplished, has emphasized more than anything else the great and growing need for more diligent effort at co-operation along other lines of farming industry. Those who have given the matter most serious consideration, are firm in the belief that a county agent, employed at the expense of the federal government and by state and county aid, offers the most intelligent answer to the requirements of Bulloch county.

The big objection to county agents

In the past has probably arisen from a misunderstanding on the part of the public as to the duties of such officials. There have been those who pretended to believe that the duty of the agent was to go about the county and attempt to instruct farmers how to lay off their rows for planting; how to cultivate and harvest their crops, and the hundred and one little matters which every farmer believes he has been perfectly instructed by his father in "the good old days." Laboring under this misinformation, there has been a sort of resentment against the farm agent. It is almost absolutely true that all this opposition has come from men who might actually have been helped by listening to counsel from a safe advisor; and certainly it has all come from men who strenuously refused to co-operate in any effort the agent was making to perform his duty well.

Just like there are men and men, there are agents and agents. There are some men in almost every community—men who are not worth their feed and keep. It is as true that there might be county agents who are well nigh worthless. Good men in any walk of life are worth more than sorry men, and such men can at least be expected to earn their wages and leave a profit to their employers.

There is agitation of the proposition to procure the services of a good agent for Bulloch county for the next year. Those who are at the head of county matters have expressed a willingness to give heed to the wishes of the representative men of the county if they really desire such help. Those who have rejected the proposition are firm in the belief that a good man would be of untold value to the agricultural interests of the county.

CANDLER MAKES ANSWER.

Another chapter was written in the Candler-deBouché affair when old "Uncle Asa" made answer in the courts to the widow's damage suit Tuesday.

The dashing widow from New Orleans had alleged that "Uncle Asa" pressed his suit with such ardor that he was irresistible. When he met her first at the Atlanta reunion in 1919 she was hampered by the fetters of a former matrimonial venture, but she declared that the old gentleman was undaunted by the handicap and began the courtship which he later terminated within a few days of the date set for their marriage. The widow had been to Reno and satisfactorily adjusted all the little marital handicaps; had shipped many trunks of her belongings to Atlanta for storage in the Candler warehouse, pending her return from a trip to Honolulu as the bride of the Coca-Cola millionaire. The itinerary was mapped out for the trip, and the minister had been engaged for the ceremony. Suddenly and without warning the prospective groom wrote the bride-to-be that the whole matter was off, giving as his reason that some person in whose name he had confidence had told him something very much against her character. That was where "Uncle Asa" made his second big mistake. The first one was when he imagined that a dashing young woman could really be in love with a man so out of date as he except for his money. That the old gentleman was not fully at himself was clearly proved by the writing of the letter in which he broke off his engagement. Almost any other excuse except the one he presented would have been less repulsive and would have been as effective. The widow declares that she had known of the opposition of his family to the approaching marriage and had offered to release him on that ground. He declined to be released. This was one of his big blunders. He ought to have listened to reason from those who had his welfare at heart and were competent to advise him. It is too late to talk about that now; all that is as water that has passed over the wheel. It is going to cost the old gentleman a considerable sum of hard cash to get around that letter he wrote. In his defense, he makes the point that it was not he who circulated the scandal, but the widow herself. He wrote her of the existence of the scandal and she made it public. The defense is rather flimsy. He may as well get down his old check book and begin to write his name on the dotted lines. The widow wants half a million dollars and it won't hurt the old millionaire to give it to her.

SPECIAL SERVICES SUNDAY AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The services, both morning and evening, at the Statesboro Methodist church next Sunday will be of a very extraordinary nature. This will be Children's and Young People's Day, and the children and young people will attend in large numbers. All older people will also find these services most interesting.

More than one hundred children will take part in the program at the 11:30 service. The regular order of worship will be closely followed, but will be carried out by the children. It will be an unusual sight to see little children play the parts of grown-up people.

The pastor, Rev. Leland Moore, will preach a twenty-minute sermon to the children. His subject will be "The Lad, The Lunch and The Lord." The message will be one of practical value to both young and old. Parents are urged to be present with their children.

At the evening hour, 8:00 o'clock, there will be a special service for the young people of the city. They are to be there, too, one hundred fifty strong. The Epworth League contest which is now on, has resulted in a great activity and much new interest in the work of the League. These young people will be seated in a body Sunday evening. It will be an inspiration to see and come in touch with this body of young life. All young people of the city are urged to attend if possible.

MRS. CALLIE MIKELL.

Mrs. Callie Mikell, aged 64 years, died Wednesday night at the home of her son, J. Grady Smith, with whom she had been making her home for some time. At what hour her death occurred is not known. She was found dead in her bed at an early hour this morning by her little grandson, Thomas Smith, who went to wait on her with his medicine. The body was rigid, and it was apparent that death had occurred early in the night. She had been in feeble health and confined to the house almost continuously for several weeks, though she was apparently slightly improved the day before her death.

Interment will be in East Side cemetery at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon following services at the Smith home, which will be conducted by Rev. W. T. Granade, of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Leland Moore, of the Methodist church.

BOX SUPPER.

There will be a box supper at Denmark High School Friday, March 23, at 8:00 o'clock, for the benefit of the new school. J. W. MARTIN, Principal.

IN HONOR OF BRIDE.

A lovely compliment to Miss Nannie Mell Olliff, a popular bride of Monday, was the dinner party given by Mrs. Bruce Olliff Thursday evening at her home on Savannah avenue. The dining table was adorned with a silver basket of pink and white hyacinths on a real lace cover. From the handles of the basket hung a tiny kookie bride. At each guest's place was a basket of pink and white mints.

Covers were placed for Miss Nannie Mell Olliff, Mr. Robert Price Russell, Miss Clara Leck DeLoach, Mr. J. P. Foy, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Groover, Miss Ullia Olliff, Mr. Rawdon Olliff, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Olliff and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Olliff. The dinner was served in five courses.

Miss Nannie Mell Olliff was the honoree of a linen shower Friday afternoon, given by Mrs. Bruce Olliff. Spring flowers were in evidence in the rooms where the guests were entertained. Seven tables of bridge and three of croquet were played. At the conclusion of the games, little Miss Fay Foy, daintily dressed, brought in "magic box" which contained the many dainty gifts.

A salad course was served.

Mrs. Rupert Rackley complimented Miss Nannie Mell Olliff, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Price Russell occurred Monday morning, with a bridge party Friday evening at her home on South Main street. Three tables were arranged for bridge. At each player's place was a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Three playing were Miss Nannie Mell Olliff, Mr. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Olliff, Miss Louise Foy, Mr. Rawdon Olliff, Miss Ullia Olliff, Mr. J. P. Foy, Miss Irma Floyd, Mr. Orlan McDougald, Miss Sibyl Williams, Mr. Barney Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Rackley.

A pretty party was given by Miss Irma Floyd Thursday in honor of Miss Nannie Mell Olliff, a lovely bride of the week. The lower floor of the home was decorated in yellow and white cut flowers. Ten tables of bridge were played.

After the games, Francis Moya gave a solo dance and beamed with a wand towards a specially-built hermitage in the living room, and little Homer Blitch appeared drawing a wagon which contained the many beautiful gifts.

Miss Olliff was dressed in a gown of black lace over black charmeuse, with hat to match.

Miss Floyd wore a pretty creation of black satin and henna. She was assisted in entertaining by Miss Sibyl Williams.

MISS OLLIFF—RUSSELL.

The marriage of Miss Nannie Mell Olliff and Mr. Robert Price Russell, of Worcester, Mass., occurred very quietly Monday morning at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Dight Olliff, on North Main street. Elder W. H. Crouse officiating.

Mr. Russell and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for Savannah, from where they sailed on the "City of Rome" for Boston. From there they will go to New Hampshire to spend their honeymoon at the Russell's summer home in White Mountains.

WOULD HAVE BOOKS CLOSE APRIL FIRST

TAX RECEIVER SUGGESTS THAT PUBLIC WOULD BE BETTER SERVED BY CHANGE.

In discussing the closing of his books for the reception of state and county tax returns a few days ago, Receiver H. J. Akins left the suggestion that legal steps should be taken to have the closing date advanced to April 1st instead of May 1st as at present.

It is pointed out by Mr. Akins that the taking of the returns is a small matter compared with the later work of tabulating them, passing them through the hands of the equalizers and making them ready for the tax collector. Under the law as at present operative, the receiver is allowed four months in which to make his returns—January 1st to May 1st. He is required by law to make three rounds over the county, stopping at the important places in each district. There are approximately 5,000 taxpayers in Bulloch county.

When the receiver has completed his last round, less than ten per cent of the taxpayers have made their returns. The balance of the work is performed by him at the court house after he has completed his rounds or is left to be done by the tax equalizers after the books are turned over to them. When the time of the tax equalizers is taken up in accepting returns, it means that the county is paying that board to do work that is the duty of the tax receiver and for which he receives pay.

When the returns are placed in the hands of the equalizers, they are permitted from May 1st to July 1st to perform their work. It is almost an impossibility for them to do the work thoroughly in that time. When they have finished, they return the papers to the receiver and the law makes it his duty to write up his digest and have it ready for the comptroller general in ten days. This, the receiver declares, is another impossibility.

The upshot of the whole matter is that there is a rush in the work from the time the receiver's books close till the collector's books open. It is the best the collector can hope to do to get ready for collecting taxes by the last week in October. By that time the farmers have spent their cotton money and the time for paying taxes is almost past.

Mr. Akins suggests that the law should be changed so that his books would close by the first of April. This would advance the whole program so that tax collections could be commenced in September, which is about the time cotton has begun to move actively. The proposition is worthy of consideration, and should receive attention from those who have the power of action in the matter.

AMERICAN LEGION ENDORSE FRENCH

INVASION OF GERMANY IS JUSTIFIED AND ENTITLED TO ALLIED SUPPORT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 10.—Mass meetings protesting the action of France in invading the Rhur valley in an attempt to force Germany to pay the reparations agreed upon at the Versailles parley, which have been held in all parts of the country, were branded as new efforts to barter pro-German propaganda in this country by Garland W. Powell, director of the American Legion national Americanism commission, in a recent statement.

"The French invasion of the Rhur is just," said Mr. Powell, "and should have the support of all of honest allies. Americans sent her soldiers to fight for right, justice and freedom. To that end the war was fought to a finish. The result was the treaty of Versailles, which was signed by Germany. Is that treaty to be another scrap of paper?"

"One reason the United States entered was the German government's utter disregard of treaties honorably made between Germany and other countries. That is one of the reasons that many American families are today suffering the loss of their loved ones. Were those boys lives sacrificed in vain? Are we going to break faith with those who died in order that treaties should be more than scraps of paper?"

"The American Legion is wholeheartedly in favor of France's stand because we know that Germany is doing everything in her power to break faith with the world as she did before. Germany today has big credits in our country. The German people, after going before notary public and having American and other securities sworn to, burn them up and send the sworn statement to this and other countries and have new certificates issued, which are held in the place issued, so as to prevent the allies from collecting. France was devastated. It is taking a just and right stand in her hand in each case, deposited when they were arrested by federal prohibition officers at Barnesville, Ga., in September of last year.

The defendants failed to appear in court and bonds were ordered forfeited. A petition for recovery of the two automobiles was filed by Mr. Cooper and the hearing will come up this week. No definite date was set by Judge Barrett.

"The opinion that the officers cannot search automobiles without warrants," said Judge Barrett, "is due to notices which have erroneously appeared in the press in regard to my former ruling. It is true that Judge Sibley differed with me," he said in answer to Mr. Cooper's question about the present notices, "but he differed with me when the erroneous statement appeared in the press."

"In a recent decision handed down by me, an officer has the right to search an automobile or any place he has reason to believe a crime has or is being committed. An officer may search a car or foot wharfy in an automobile, and has a reasonable right to search the automobile. Unreasonable search is the menace against which the fourth amendment of the constitution and the search warrant statutes protect. Reasonable search is always permissible."

It is expected that Coffin and Brethau will arrive here from Indianapolis within a few days and that they will contest the right of the government to hold two high-powered automobiles, which were seized by the officers when whisky was found in them at Barnesville.

"Lead pipe," chirped one. "Pipe down," ordered the judge. "Until we can hear from Washington."

Admiral Thomas, in Washington, wrote the judge that he did not believe it would stop boys from stealing automobiles to sentence them to the navy, even while at sea, and he judged by the performance of these two there was danger they might make away with the ship.

FOUR GEORGIA WIDOWS DRAWING 1812 PENSIONS

Washington, March 20.—Statistics here reveal that four widows in Georgia are drawing pensions as a result of the War of 1812. They are: Cornelia H. Clayton, aged eighty-two years, Route 4, Americus, widow of Thomas Clayton, private, Captain John Fields' company, Virginia militia; Lydia A. Smylie, eighty-two years old, Route 2, Glennville, widow of James Smylie, who was a private in Captain Robert Quartermaster's Georgia militia; Elmina Wood, aged eighty-six, Route 2, Windsor, widow of John L. Wood, private in Captain Isham Hendon's company, Georgia militia, and Julia Ann Smith, aged eighty-seven, now at Watley, Ala., but who is the widow of James Smith, corporal in Captain J. Merriweather's company, Georgia militia.

There are no longer any soldiers who actually fought in the War of 1812 on the pension rolls, the last one being Hiram Cronk, who died in Ava, N. Y., in 1905, having attained the age of 165 years. The oldest of the forty-two widows of veterans of the War of 1812 now drawing a pension is Malala Huff, residing on rural route 2, Louisa, Ky., who is 104 years old.

All told approximately 35,000 widows of soldiers of the War of 1812 entered was the German government's utter disregard of treaties honorably made between Germany and other countries. That is one of the reasons that many American families are today suffering the loss of their loved ones. Were those boys lives sacrificed in vain? Are we go-

UPHOLDS SEARCH OF AUTOMOBILES

JUDGE BARRETT RULES AGENTS ALLOWED TO HUNT FOR RUM IN CARS.

Macon, Ga., March 20.—The right of officers to search automobiles without warrants in quest of contraband liquor was sustained yesterday afternoon by Judge W. H. Barrett, in the United States District Court, when he denied the petition of Attorney W. O. Cooper, representing George Coffin and C. H. Brethau, of Indianapolis, for the return of $500 cash bond in each case, deposited when they were arrested by federal prohibition officers at Barnesville, Ga., in September of last year.
